

Samra J. Coote

Samra J. Coote is a proven business and civic leader. Her focus has been in the areas of public relations and community investment. Samra served as Director of Public Engagement and Communications with the Atlanta Education Fund, a community-based education organization committed to mobilizing resources for quality public education for all children in the city of Atlanta.

Prior to joining the Atlanta Education Fund, Samra had a successful career in the profit and not-for-profit sectors. Additionally, she was the Founder/CEO of Bolden Communications Group, Inc., a full-service public relations/event management boutique in Atlanta, GA.

Samra earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in Communications from Iona College in New Rochelle, NY.