February 2-5 Women's Healthy Heart Week

Women's Healthy Heart Week was established by Women With Heart (WWH), a volunteer support organization of Morehouse School of Medicine dedicated to raising student scholarship funds, promoting healthy lifestyles, and increasing community awareness about heart health and cardiovascular disease. Established in 2009 by former First Lady Eilene Maupin, WWH helps to advance the mission of MSM to improve the health and well-being of individuals and communities with an emphasis on underserved populations throughout Greater Atlanta and the state of Georgia. $154,800 was awarded to 26 students from the 2015 Women With Heart event.

"Morehouse School of Medicine (MSM) is committed to discovering the cause and cure of health inequities such as heart disease. It excels in training primary care physicians to not only understand the biological determinants of illness and health, but also the social factors, and this will make a difference in the health of our community. Through Women With Heart 2016, we will strive to increase community awareness about heart health and cardiovascular diseases, particularly in underserved communities. I am pleased to join a dedicated group of women who support MSM in this important mission."

Teresa Cummings
Chair, Women With Heart 2016

- Heart disease is the No. 1 killer of women, taking more lives than all forms of cancer combined.
- Cardiovascular diseases kill nearly 50,000 African-American women annually.
- Of African-American women ages 20 and older, 49% have heart diseases.
- Heart disease is the leading cause of death for men in the United States, killing 307,225 men in 2009—that's 1 in every 4 male deaths.
- About 7.9% of black men have coronary heart disease.
- Between 70% and 89% of sudden cardiac events occur in men.

Morehouse School of Medicine (MSM) is a private institution with a vision of "leading the creation and advancement of health equity" and a mission to increase the diversity of the health professional and scientific workforce to address primary health care needs through programs in education, research, and service. Our students are highly qualified, yet many need assistance to meet the financial costs of a medical education. A most pressing need of need-based scholarships remains at MSM.

We invite you to become a 2016 MSM Event Sponsor, helping to ensure financial support for our future health care professionals and scientists.

April 21 Hugh M. Gloster Society Celebration

The Hugh M. Gloster Society Celebration honors the commitment, community support and engagement of our donors and highlights MSM's students, faculty, and research impacting the State of Georgia and our nation.

The Louis C. Brown Vanguard Award, named for the late Louis C. Brown, M.D., a prominent African-American internist in Atlanta and one of MSM's esteemed founders is presented annually to an individual or organization whose pioneering spirit and demonstrated leadership have impacted issues of health disparities in our community.
